Building careers in health and care

Work Experience in the NHS

Engaging with our future workforce

Engaging with our future workforce today!

Hospital Trusts, as major local employers encourage engagement with people from their local community in order to support aspirations to gain a future career in the NHS.

A variety of work experience programmes across Cheshire provide local people with a great opportunity to experience what it is really like working in a hospital environment.

What types of activities can you do on work experience?

- ◆ Your work experience might involve a hospital visit, hospital tour, bespoke work experience week, health careers event or hospital placement.
- ◆ Hospital placements are observational and vary in length from a half day placement to a full week or more.
- ◆ Volunteering can also be a great way to gain experience of working in a hospital.

- ◆ There are over 350 different jobs you can do in the NHS. You can choose to have a placement in a clinical or non-clinical area.
- ◆ You will shadow staff in various departments and learn what skills are required to carry out various roles, and have the chance to ask questions about how you can pursue a job in the NHS.
- ◆ You will have the opportunity to talk to patients and find out what it feels like to work in a busy caring hospital environment.

Benefits of gaining Work Experience

- ◆ Allows people to make a more informed choice about their future career and gives a better understanding of the workplace.
- ◆ Provides young people with a valuable experience of the world of work and increases motivation and achievement by making education more relevant to working life.
- ◆ Helps people to develop new and existing skills, increase confidence, communication skills, the ability to take on responsibility, and provides the experience required to support C.V's and applications for NHS careers and health related courses.

Benefits of Work Experience for the Trust

- ◆ Influences the quality of the future workforce by developing the confidence and employability skills of those on placement.
- ◆ Helps to open recruitment channels and to widen participation with the aim of finding a future workforce that is representative of the community that it serves.
- ◆ Work Experience enhances existing staffs supervision and mentoring skills when looking after people on work experience placements.

Work Experience opportunities vary but may be offered in areas such as:

General Wards & Nursing
